Gazprom's Uzbek Find

By The Moscow Times

August 26, 2010

Gazprom said Thursday that an exploration venture with state-controlled Uzbekneftegaz has made a commercial discovery of the fuel on the Central Asian nation's Ustyurt Plateau.

The Dzhel-2 well found four structures below 2,390 meters, which yielded flow rates of 500,000 cubic meters of gas per day, Gazprom Zarubezhneftegaz said on its web site.
