

Foreign Ministry Urges Russians to Avoid Georgia

September 01, 2010

The  Moscow Times

The Foreign Ministry has issued a recommendation to Russian citizens to avoid traveling to Georgia because local authorities prosecute foreigners who visit the breakaway republics of Abkhazia and South Ossetia, RIA-Novosti reported Wednesday.

People who travel to the two regions, labeled “occupied territories” by Tbilisi, without permission from Georgian authorities face huge fines and even jail time, the ministry said.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2010/09/01/foreign-ministry-urges-russians-to-avoid-georgia-a1100>