

Sentence Delay Overturned

October 14, 2010

The  Moscow Times

Irkutsk Regional Court on Thursday ordered a retrial in the case of a local election official's daughter who was convicted of killing a pedestrian in a traffic accident in December but had her sentence postponed for 14 years.

The decision was prompted by major procedural violations, the court said in a statement. It gave no date for a new trial, which is to take place in the same court, but with different judges.✕
