

Bus Driver Dies at Wheel

November 08, 2010

The  Moscow Times

Passengers of a commuter bus in the Omsk region had to take over the wheel after their driver died of a heart attack right on the highway, Interfax reported Monday, citing local prosecutors.

The bus was in danger of running into a ditch, but passengers managed to prevent an accident, the report said. About 20 people were on the bus, and no one was injured, Komsomolskaya Pravda said. The unidentified 54-year-old driver died instantly.

✉(MT)

Original url: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2010/11/08/bus-driver-dies-at-wheel-a2818>