The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

New Chinese Potash Deal

By The Moscow Times

June 29, 2011

Belarusian Potash, agent for Uralkali and Belaruskali, sold potash to two Chinese fertilizer importers at prices $70 a ton higher than in the first half, BPC chief executive Vladimir Nikolayenko said in a statement Wednesday.

The contract, for 500,000 tons and an option for 200,000 tons, priced the deliveries at $470 on a cost-and-freight basis. BPC said the contract was signed with Chinese state-owned oil and chemicals company Sinochem and CNAMPGC.

(Reuters)

Original url: https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2011/06/29/new-chinese-potash-deal-a7952