Eni Expects Gazprom Accord

By The Moscow Times

February 23, 2012

Italy's oil and gas major Eni expects to find an agreement with Gazprom on the price of gas contracts within a couple of months, Eni's chief executive Paolo Scaroni said Thursday.

"I am confident that an agreement will be found," Scaroni told reporters after a meeting with EU Energy Commissioner Günther Oettinger. "I hope within a couple of months."

Earlier this month, Scaroni said he hoped to be able to make some announcements on the matter at the group's strategy presentation in March.
