

Aeroflot Gets 10th Superjet

By The Moscow Times

September 17, 2012

The  Moscow Times

Sukhoi Civil Aircraft signed over the latest Superjet 100 to Aeroflot, bringing the flagship carrier's fleet of the mid-range airliners to 10.

The aircraft, named after Soviet Air Marshal Boris Bugayev, was formally handed over after both sides signed a certificate of delivery in Ulyanovsk on Monday, Sukhoi Civil Aviation said.

The plane will fly from Ulyanovsk to Moscow on Wednesday.

The regional airliner is the first new aircraft to be designed and built in Russia since the Soviet collapse, but its introduction has been plagued by technical problems, which caused Aeroflot to say it was billing Sukhoi for downtime caused by the jet in April.

(MT)

Related articles:

- Armenian Airline to Drop Superjet 100

- Airlines Might Have to Buy Domestic Planes
- Sukhoi Superjet Lands at Airport Due to Accident

Original url: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2012/09/17/aeroflot-gets-10th-superjet-a17860>