

2 Tourists Mugged in Central Moscow

By The Moscow Times

November 13, 2012

The  Moscow Times

An American and a Serbian tourist were violently mugged overnight in central Moscow.

The American, 43, and the Serb, 23, were attacked by three unknown men while walking along Vspolny Pereulok late Monday night near the Barrikadnaya metro station, a Moscow police source told Interfax.

The thieves stole a laptop, 50,000 rubles ($1,600) in cash and a tablet computer before fleeing. The foreigners immediately reported the mugging to the police.

Although it is still wise to have your wits about you when walking the streets of Moscow at night, authorities in 2011 recorded a 16 percent decrease in thefts over the previous year, according to a police report.

Related articles:

- Lipetsk Tourist Breaks Back in Egypt

- Raising Moscow's Quality of Life
- English Improving but Teachers Scarce

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2012/11/13/2-tourists-mugged-in-central-moscow-a19356>