Novorossiisk Commercial Sea Port said Thursday it had reached a deal with Sberbank on improving the terms of a $1.95 billion loan.

The port operator, which provides the largest outlets for Russian energy and commodity exports, said the deal included a decrease in the interest rate from Jan. 19, changes in the repayment schedule, and a significant lightening of the covenant requirements.

The company said Thursday that nine-month net profit fell 68 percent year-on-year to $101.8 million due to foreign exchange losses.

Revenue for the period stood at $691.3 million, down 12 percent, while EBITDA fell 19 percent to $379.6 million, the company said in a statement.
