

Today in History, March 12

By The Moscow Times

March 12, 2014

A painting by Fyodor Yakovlevich Alekseyev of Moscow's Red Square in the early 19th century.

Ninety-six years ago today, on March 12, 1918, Moscow became Russia's capital again. The title had belonged to St. Petersburg for over 200 years.

Original url: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/03/12/today-in-history-march-12-a32880>