

Today in History, March 27

March 27, 2014

A painting by Alexei Bogolyubov depicting the Ipatiev Monastery.

In 1330, 684 years ago today, the Ipatiev Monastery was built at the confluence of the Volga and Kostroma rivers. Mikhail Romanov was later named Tsar during his stay at the monastery.

Original url: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/03/27/today-in-history-march-27-33373-a33373>