

Moscow Temperature to Hit 20 C by Weekend

April 14, 2014

The  Moscow Times

Although this week's weather forecast sees chilly, rainy days through Wednesday, temperatures are expected to climb to 20 degrees Celsius (70 Fahrenheit) by the weekend, meteorologists say.

Daytime temperatures are expected to hover around 13 to 15 C through Wednesday, with nighttime temperatures remaining above freezing, the Moscow Region Weather Service said Monday, Interfax reported.

The clouds are expected to clear by this weekend, however, with temperatures peaking around 20 C.
