

Today in History, May 28

May 28, 2014

The Russian Empire and China's Qing Dynasty signed the Treaty of Aigun 156 years ago today, on May 28, 1858. As a result, the Amur region became part of the Russian Empire, and the Ussuri region was recognized as joint territory.

Original url: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/05/28/today-in-history-may-28-a35891>