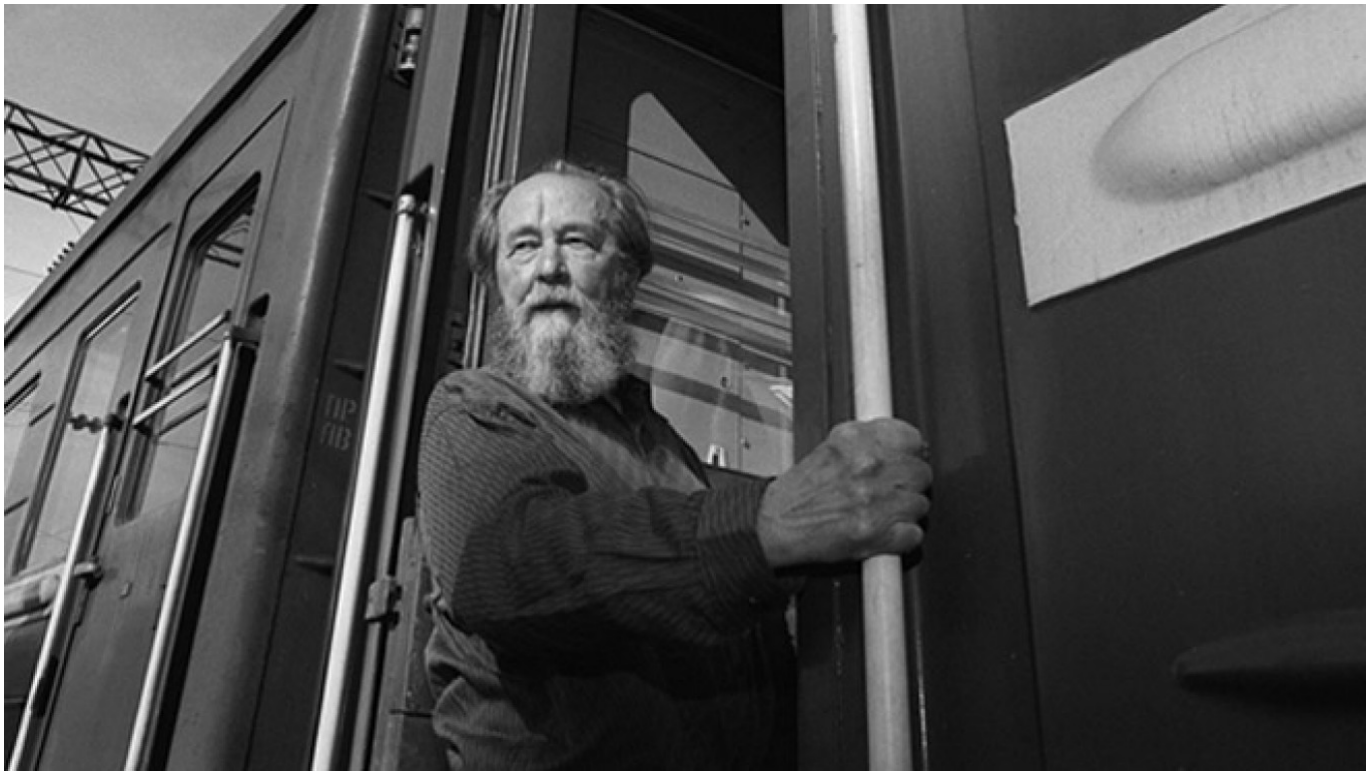
The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Today in History, June 8

June 08, 2014



A famous Russian writer was deported from the Soviet Union in 1974

On June 8, 1978, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn delivered the address "A World Split Apart" at a Harvard commencement ceremony. The speech was heard by about 20,000 students and even more people watched it on U.S. television.

Original url: https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/06/08/today-in-history-june-8-a36257