

Russia Won't Target Foreign Energy Firms Over Sanctions, Minister Says

By The Moscow Times

September 19, 2014

Russia's Natural Resources Minister Sergei Donskoi said on Friday that Russia was not planning to toughen restrictions on foreign oil and gas firms working in the country in response to Western sanctions, RIA news agency reported.

Foreign oil majors with projects and joint ventures in Russia include BP, Exxon Mobil and Total.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/09/19/russia-wont-target-foreign-energy-firms-over-sanctions-minister-says-a39587>