

Russia Beat Hungary in Football Friendly to Relieve Pressure on Capello

November 19, 2014

Russia's Alexandr Kerzhakov (2L) celebrates with team mates after scoring a goal against Hungary, Nov. 18, 2014

BUDAPEST — Russia has won for the first time in four matches, beating Hungary 2-1 in a friendly to relieve the pressure on under-fire coach Fabio Capello.

Media reports said the Italian could be sacked after Tuesday's game in Budapest but his side triumphed thanks to second-half goals from Sergei Ignashevich and Alexander Kerzhakov.

Hungary replied through Nemanja Nikolic with four minutes to go.

The home team created the first chance with Zsolt Kalmar's fierce right-foot drive forcing a fine save from Zenit St. Petersburg keeper Yury Lodygin.

Russia slowly worked their way into the match and Artyom Dzyuba was sent clean through six minutes before halftime only for keeper Denes Dibusz to save well to his left.

Capello's men took the lead after 49 minutes when halftime substitute Ignashevich glanced home a header at the near post from Alexander Samedov's corner to notch his sixth international goal.

Balazs Dzsudzsak then went close for Hungary before Kerzhakov hit the bar for the visitors.

Kerzhakov would not be denied and he extended his scoring record for Russia to 29 goals when he pounced on a perfect pass from Alan Dzagoyev to slot the ball between Dibusz's legs.

"I am satisfied with the result and with my team's performance," said Capello.

"I want to say to all Russian fans that I am completely confident in my team. I am sure we will get positive results in Euro 2016 qualifying."

Russia are third in Group G with five points from four matches, five behind leaders Austria.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2014/11/19/russia-beat-hungary-in-football-friendly-to-relieve-pressure-on-capello-a41508>