

Russian Economy Minister Expects Sanctions to Last for Years

By The Moscow Times

March 16, 2015

Alexei Ulyukayev

Russian Economy Minister Alexei Ulyukayev said on Monday that he expected sanctions to remain in place this year and next year.

Russia has been hit by the West with several waves of sanctions for its role in the Ukraine crisis. The measures have significantly limited Russia's access to foreign capital and have cut investments in the country.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2015/03/16/russian-economy-minister-expects-sanctions-to-last-for-years-a44793>