

Russian Watchdog Fines Burger King for Food Safety Violations

September 15, 2015

Russian consumer protection watchdog Rospotrebnadzor said on Tuesday that it had found food-safety violations at two Burger King restaurants in Moscow.

The watchdog also found other breaches of technical rules in many other Burger King restaurants in Moscow, its Moscow branch added in a statement on its website.

Rospotrebnadzor said it had fined Burger King a total of 15.4 million rubles ($230,031).
