The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Sinister Acid-Pink Penguins Invade Moscow's Street

By Katrin Scheib

July 06, 2016

Pink penguins everywhere, and you're not even drunk or asleep? Yes, that's Moscow for you these days, where human-sized penguin statues are waiting for you at strategic points throughout the city.

Ostensibly, they are there to draw your attention to the city's Ice Cream Festival, but clearly, that is just a front. Unless you are incurably naive, the following pictures will open your eyes to just how creepy these birds really are.

Let's start with the fact that they can't meet your eyes.

Embed:

Ein von Anna (@annanovozhenova) gepostetes Foto am 3. Jul 2016 um 1:52 Uhr

They're armed.

Embed:

Ein von Daria Lapina (@kisenysh87) gepostetes Foto am 3. Jul 2016 um 6:21 Uhr

They don't even bother to hide the fact that they have nuclear ambitions.

Embed:

Ein von Женечек Королева (@jenek.korolek) gepostetes Foto am 1. Jul 2016 um 10:17 Uhr

Their influence on Russia's youth is already showing.

Embed:

Ein von Natalia Isaeva (@natalaina) gepostetes Foto am 3. Jul 2016 um 9:59 Uhr

They are analyzing every little thing that we do.

Embed:

Ein von Aleksander (@aleksander_fresh) gepostetes Foto am 4. Jul 2016 um 10:26 Uhr

They have infiltrated Moscow families, posing as husbands, wives and other relatives without anyone noticing.

Embed:

Ein von Тимуршина Татьяна (@timurshinatatiana) gepostetes Foto am 3. Jul 2016 um 23:09 Uhr

They are documenting every step you take.

Embed:

Ein von @selensa451451 gepostetes Foto am 4. Jul 2016 um 10:32 Uhr

They are ready for impact.

Embed:

Ein von Elena Makhova (@zyuscha) gepostetes Foto am 24. Jun 2016 um 11:04 Uhr

They are masters of disguise.

Embed:

Ein von @olyainfinity gepostetes Foto am 26. Jun 2016 um 7:58 Uhr

Embed: https://www.instagram.com/p/BHZK5Qzhsgv/

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2016/07/06/moscow-russia-pink-penguins-invasion-a54441