The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Russian Firm Honors Trump with $3,000 Gold-Coated iPhone 7

November 17, 2016

caviar-phone.ru

Russians can now pay homage to U.S. President-elect Donald Trump with a gold-coated iPhone 7 engraved with his portrait.

The smartphone, emblazoned with Trump's iconic election slogan, “make America great again,” will set customers back a mere 197,000 rubles ($3,000)

The special-edition has been produced by Moscow-based brand Caviar, better known for their designs featuring Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Embed:

Накануне второй годовщины со дня возвращения Крыма, #Caviar представляет две новые модели в коллекции Supremo. Модели имеют одинаковый дизайн и различаются использованием золотого или золотого и платинового покрытия. #путин #крымнаш

A photo posted by Caviar iPhone Official (@caviar_iphone) on Mar 18, 2016 at 7:20am PDT

A Caviar-designed iPhone decorated with a portrait of Russian leader Vladimir Putin. The design also features an image of the Russian-annexed Crimean peninsula and the words, "Crimea: In the hearts of the people."

The company claims that the phone is a symbol of hope for better Russian-U.S. ties, telling journalists that they would do "everything possible" to deliver one of the phones to the President-elect himself.

Putin and Trump spoke directly to each other in a telephone call on Monday, Nov. 14, according to an official statement released by the Kremlin.

“Russia’s leader once again congratulated Mr. Trump on his victory in the presidential election, wished him success in implementing his campaign platform, and expressed willingness to build a collaborative dialogue with the new administration on the principles of equality, mutual respect, and noninterference in the other’s internal affairs,” the Kremlin’s press release said.

What does Trump's victory really mean for U.S.-Russia relations? Read The Moscow Times analysis on the future for Syria, NATO, and oil prices.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2016/11/17/russian-firm-honors-trump-with-3000-gold-coated-iphone-7-a56183