

If Russian Athletes Make it to the Winter Olympics, This Is What They'll Be Wearing

November 30, 2017

As the doping scandal engulfs more Russian athletes each week, the Olympic team's prospects of participating in the upcoming Winter Games in South Korea next February are wrapped in uncertainty.

Russian athletes, however, will have their bags packed in case a ruling by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) gives them the green light. If they're allowed to compete in Pyeongchang, this is what they'll be wearing.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2017/11/30/what-russia-will-be-wearing-at-the-winter-olympics-a59750>