

Moscow Snowfall Causes Hundreds of Flight Delays

December 04, 2017

Artem Korotaev / TASS

More than 300 flights were canceled or delayed out of Moscow on Monday morning due to heavy snowfall.

Delays for flights out of Domodedovo Airport are up to two hours, the Interfax news agency reports. And the prognosis is not much better for those flying out of Sheremetyevo Airport, where more than 100 flights have been canceled.

Weather forecasters predict rain throughout the day, with light snow at night.
