

Giant Dumpling Monument Unveiled in Rural Russia

January 05, 2018

vk.com/freemiass

A monument to Russian dumplings, called pelmeni, has been unveiled in the Ural Mountains region of Chelyabinsk.

The statue of a bearded merchant with a giant dumpling on a table in front of him was installed outside Russia's only museum devoted to the classic food, the Chelyabinsky Obzor news site reported Friday.

Related article: Russian Sculptor Wants to Gift Putin-Bear Statue to the President

"A large pelmen is a joy for the mouth," reads the inscription on the monument in the town of Miass.

The statue was unveiled at a ceremony on Friday that included a dumpling-making competition.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2018/01/05/giant-pelmeni-monument-unveiled-near-urals-a60123>