The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

First Moscow Apartment Goes on Sale for Bitcoin

February 19, 2018

Pixabay

The first apartment in Moscow has reportedly gone on sale for Bitcoin.

The lavish three-bedroom 114 square meter apartment with amenities and a view of the iconic Ostankino Tower is going for a cool 85 million rubles ($1.5 million).

Related article: Russia Is Becoming a Cryptocurrency Haven

The apartment can be purchased with Bitcoin, the Vedomosti business daily cited the Intermark Savills real estate agency as saying Monday.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2018/02/19/first-moscow-apartment-goes-sale-bitcoin-a60556