Man Detained at Moscow Airport After Making False Bomb Threat, Say Authorities

By Reuters

June 29, 2018

Dmitry A. Mottl / Wikicommons

A man was detained at Moscow's Domodedovo airport on Friday after falsely stating he was carrying an explosive device, the airport said in a statement.

The airport said that the man made the claim when passing through a security check. It said no threat had been found after searching the individual and that the airport was functioning as normal.

A Reuters witness at the scene saw a man being led away by security guards in handcuffs.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2018/06/29/man-detained-at-moscow-airport-after-making-false-bomb-threat-say-authorities-a62060