

Russians Raise Their Fists (and Posters) Against Pension Reform

July 19, 2018

From Omsk to St. Petersburg, Russians took to the streets to protest the government's controversial pension reform program that would see a hike in the country's retirement age. Under the proposed legislation, the age would be raised to 65 for men and 63 for women.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2018/07/19/russians-raise-fists-posters-against-pension-reform-a62296>