Moskva News Agency

Despite conservatives' efforts to scare would-be revellers from joining in Halloween this year, Russians have come out in full force to celebrate the spooky holiday on Oct. 31 in what is fast become a loved tradition.

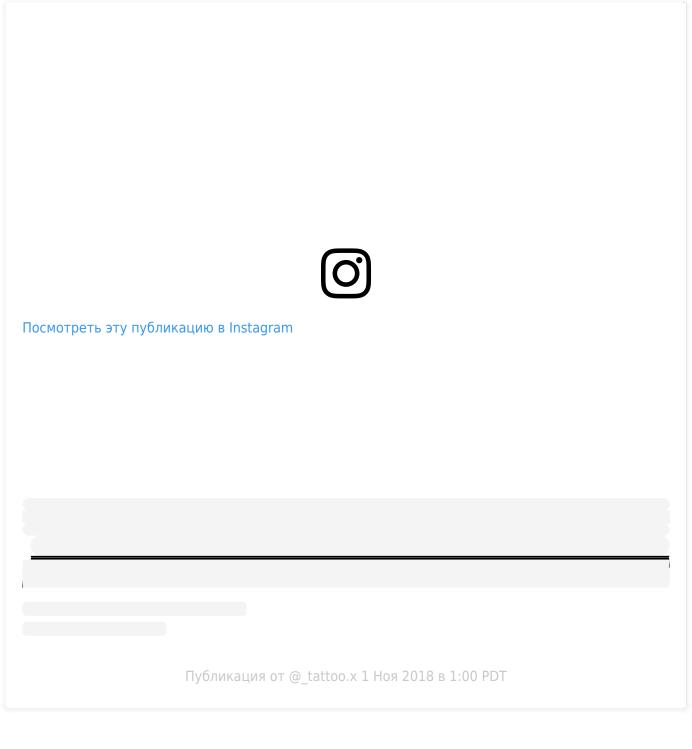

From bloody nurses to State Duma deputies, here is a selection of our favorite costumes from social media:

An expert rendition from Tim Burton's classic Halloween film — Edward Scissorhands.

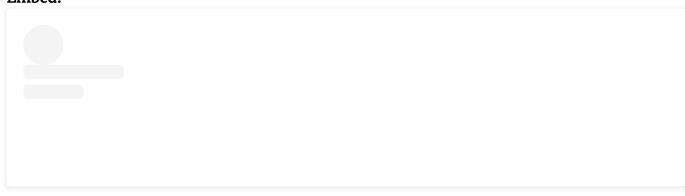

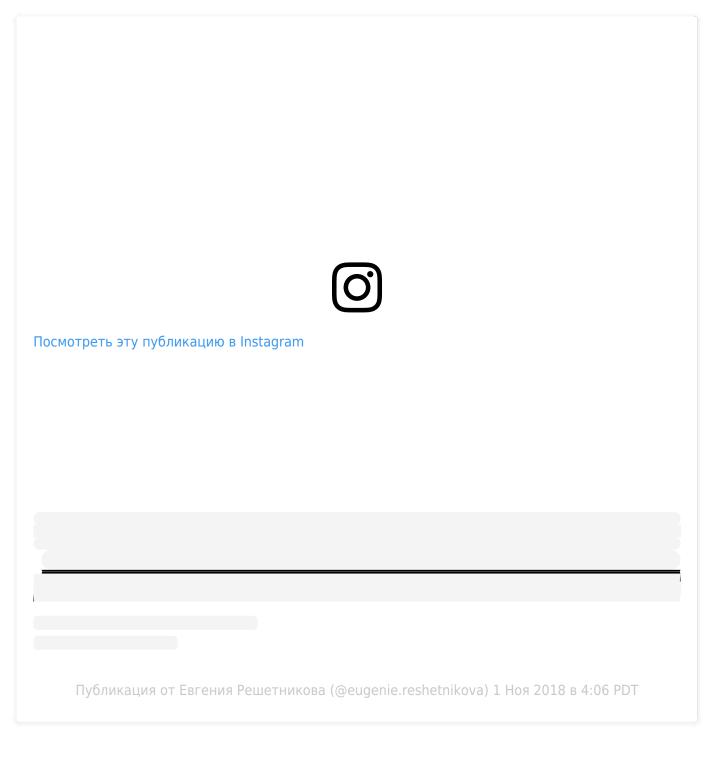

A tattooed, bloody nun. That's the spirit!

Hollywood superheroes — and villians— prowled the streets of Russia on Wednesday night.

Last years' crowd favorite was Natalya Poklonskaya — the outspoken State Duma deputy who adores Tsar Nicholas II.
