

Bus Falls Off Cliff in Russia, Killing 6 Miners

February 08, 2019

Emergency Situations Ministry / TASS

A bus carrying 22 miners plunged off a cliff in Russia on Friday, killing six workers of a company that owns the country's largest coal mine, authorities have said.

Videos from the scene of the incident in the Kemerovo region showed an upside-down orange Kamaz truck in a gray pit.

Embed:

"The Kamaz fell off an 8-10 meter cliff," an unnamed traffic police officer told the state-run TASS news agency on Friday, noting that six workers were reported dead.

Regional prosecutors said 18 people were injured.

A criminal case has been opened into the violation of safety rules, the Investigative Committee's regional branch said in a statement.

The Razrez-Raspadsky open-pit mine where the incident took place is part of the Raskadskaya coal-mining company owned by steelmaker Evraz.

At least 90 people were killed in 2010 when a series of methane gas explosions ripped apart the Raskadskaya underground coal mine — the largest of its kind in Russia.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/02/08/bus-falls-off-cliff-in-russia-killing-6-miners-a64439>