The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Kremlin Dismisses Talk of Possible U.S. Move to Probe Putin's Wealth

By Reuters

February 28, 2019

Pxhere

The Kremlin on Thursday dismissed talk of potential U.S. sanctions targeting President Vladimir Putin's wealth and called draft sanctions legislation an example of anti-Russian sentiment that should not be taken seriously.

Related article: U.S. Lawmakers Submit Bill to Investigate Putin's Finances

A group of U.S. lawmakers have proposed sanctions legislation targeting Russia that, among other things, would require the director of U.S. National Intelligence to report to Congress about Putin's personal net worth and assets.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/02/28/kremlin-dismisses-talk-of-possible-us-move-to-probe-p

utins-wealth-a64660