The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Kosovo Releases Russian UN Worker After Moscow Demand

By Reuters

May 28, 2019

AP / TASS

Kosovo released a Russian national working for the United Nations on Tuesday, the United Nations mission in Kosovo said, after Moscow demanded that Pristina release him.

The Russian was detained in a Serb-populated municipality in Kosovo's north during a police operation there.

Related article: Russia Demands Kosovo Release Detained Russian UN Worker

The UN mission said the Russian and another UN staff member who was also detained had been released and were receiving treament for injuries.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/05/28/kosovo-releases-russian-un-worker-detained-afte-polic e-detention-a65778