

Putin Ally Says Drugs Case Against Russian Journalist a 'Very Bad Story'

By Reuters

June 11, 2019

Valentina Matviyenko Совет Федерации / Flickr (CC BY-NC-SA 2.0)

Valentina Matviyenko, the speaker of Russia's upper house of parliament, on Tuesday called the case against Ivan Golunov, an investigative journalist charged with drug offenses, a "very bad story," Interfax reported.

Related article: Kremlin Says 'Errors Are Possible' in Golunov Case

The comments, by a close ally of President Vladimir Putin, are likely to encourage supporters of Golunov who believe he was framed and have organized protests demanding the charges against him be dropped.

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/06/11/putin-ally-says-drugs-case-against-russian-journalist-a-> very-bad-story-a65957