

A Journalist's Arrest Shows the Cracks in Putin's Regime

From Russia With News (Discontinued)

June 13, 2019

Evgeny Feldman for Meduza

The shock arrest of investigative journalist Ivan Golunov — and his even more unexpected release — is revealing the unpredictability of late Putinism. We speak with Alexei Kovalev, Ivan's editor, about what it took to get him free, and with Daily Beast reporter Anna Nemtsova about how authorities tried to manage the outcry.

From Russia With News is hosted by Jonathan Brown and produced by Pjotr Sauer. The episode was recorded and edited at CM Records Studio in central Moscow.

Read More:

Police Detain Over 500 in Moscow During Protest Over Reporter's Arrest

Golunov Freed; Putin, Not so Much

Original url:

https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/06/13/a-journalists-arrest-shows-the-cracks-in-putins-regime-a65996