

Russia Takes On the Viral Tetris Challenge

October 01, 2019

WildWildMoscow / Twitter

Last year, a New Zealand police squad set the internet ablaze with the Tetris Challenge.

The challenge involves artfully arranging all of one's work tools and uniforms flat on the ground, making them fit together as if they were the iconic Tetris shapes.

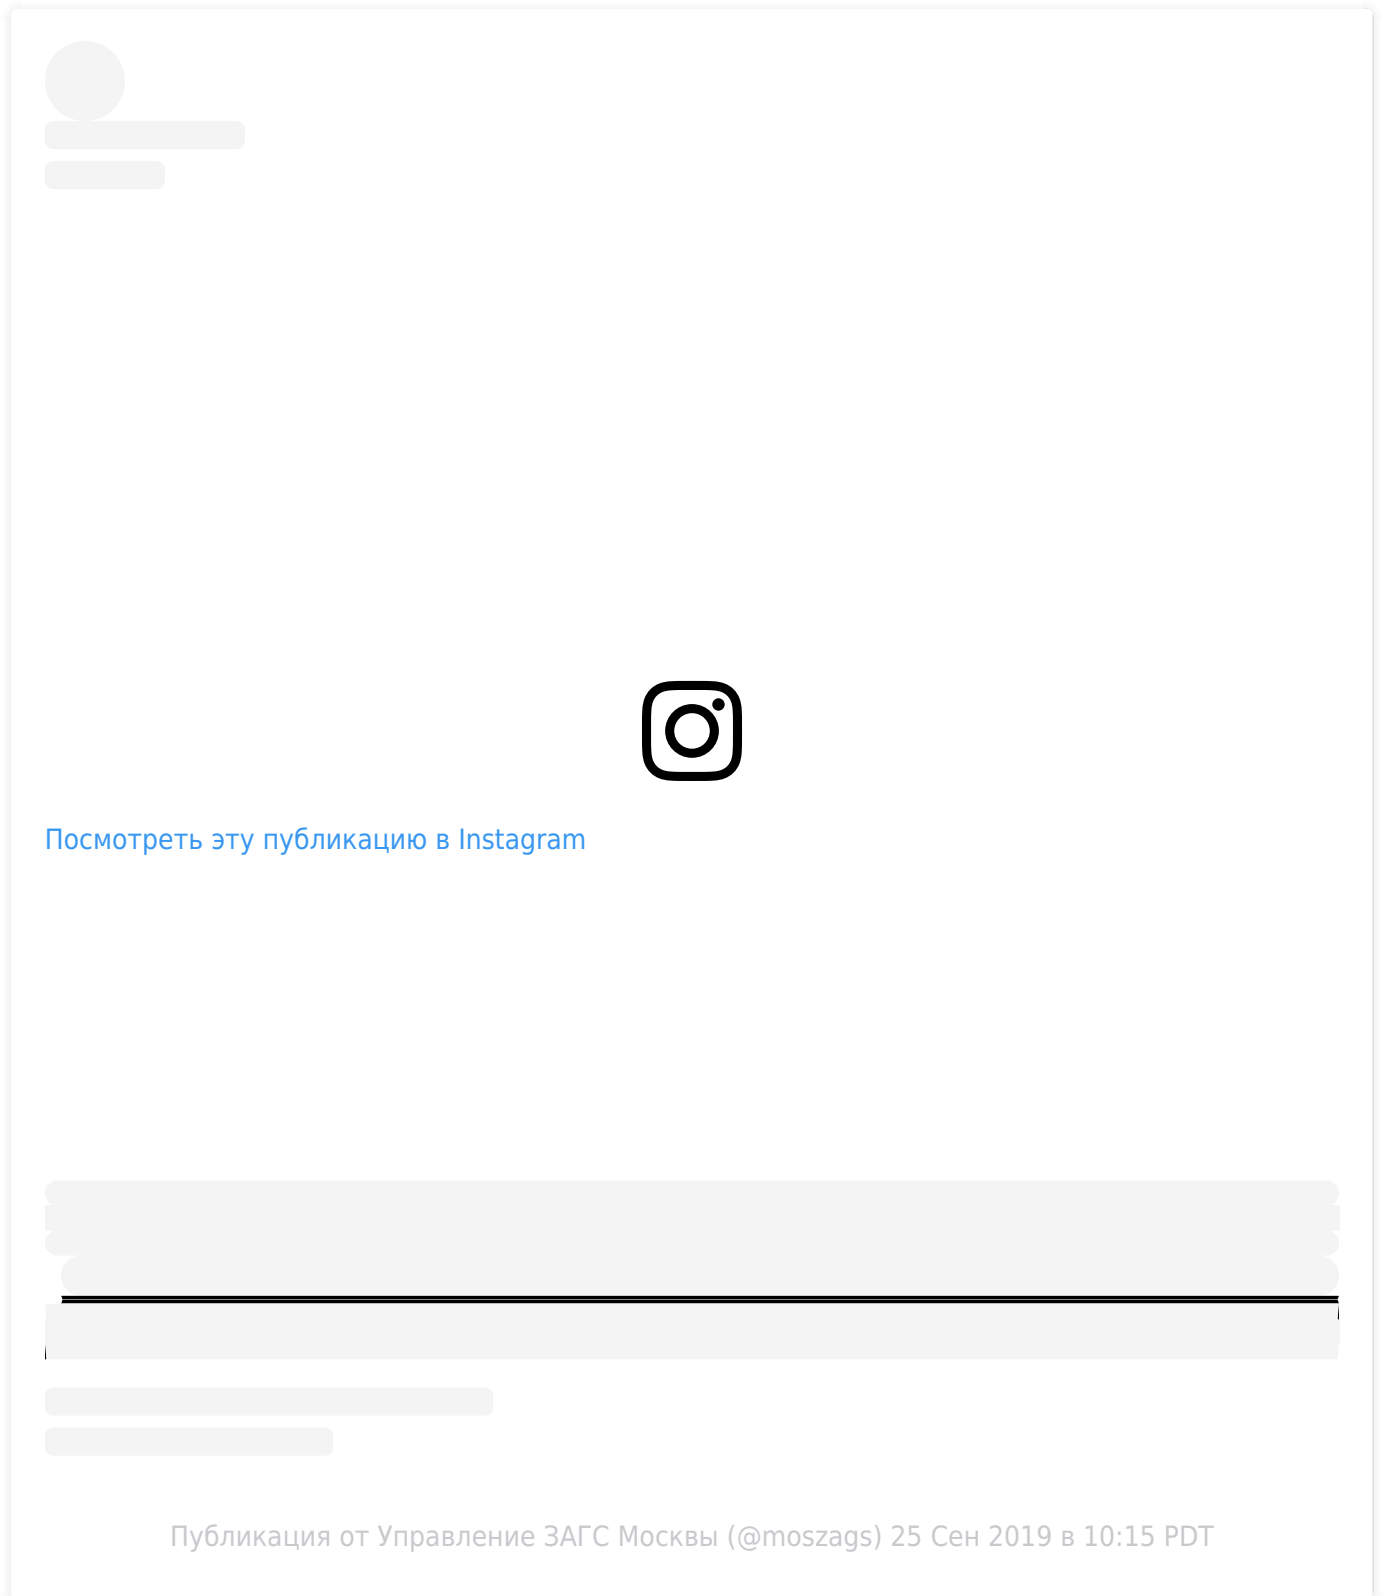

This year, the trend got a second wind, with public workers around the world getting in on the challenge.

Because Tetris was first created in the Soviet Union, it's only fitting that Russians would take the Tetris Challenge into their own hands to show the rest of us how it's done.

Here are a few of our favorites:

Is getting married a civic duty? The verdict is still out.

Embed:

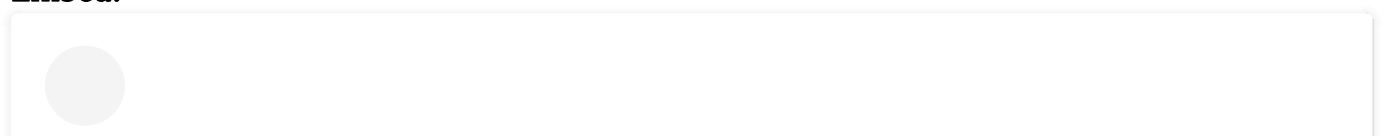

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Управление ЗАГС Москвы (@moszags) 25 Сен 2019 в 10:15 PDT

Russia's Supreme Hockey League gets involved with all their gear.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от ВХЛ - Кубок Шелкового пути (@vhl_src) 25 Сен 2019 в 3:10 PDT

You never realize how many parts are involved until you lay it all out.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от iskra-kungur (@iskra_kungur) 23 Сен 2019 в 10:40 PDT

Meanwhile, the slick work of the employees behind the Moscow city government's traffic agency.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Таганский район (@tagansky_myhome) 25 Сен 2019 в 9:22 PDT

This crew in Murmansk show us what they're made of.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Россети Северо-Запад (@rossetisevzap) 18 Сен 2019 в 9:14 PDT

If you need something fixed, they've got just the set for you.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Мособлгаз (@mosoblgaz) 28 Сен 2019 в 4:57 PDT

It takes a lots to put out a fire, as this fire department demonstrates.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от Пожарная часть 27 Люберцы (@fire_station_27_lubercy_city) 25 Сен 2019 в 8:58 PDT

We especially appreciate the multiple positions in which Tetris dolls can be arranged.

Embed:

Посмотреть эту публикацию в Instagram

Публикация от ВК Кузбасс (@kuzbassvolley) 25 Сен 2019 в 4:21 PDT

Some next-level Tetris action that we reckon wins the round.

Embed:

Спасатели из Люберец присоединились к "Тетрис челенджу"
pic.twitter.com/UcWcMozlX7

— Дикая Москва (@WildWildMoscow) September 27, 2019

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2019/10/01/russia-takes-on-the-viral-tetris-challenge-a67512>