Business leaders from Britain and Russia will meet in Moscow tomorrow to look at the future of business relations between the countries.

BP, Agrekko and AstraZeneca are among the firms lined up to speak at the 15th Annual RussiaTALK investment forum, alongside the British Ambassador and others from the world of business and investment at the event organised by the Russo-British Chamber of Commerce (RBCC).

The forum will focus on technology and innovation as opportunities to expand cooperation, and comes after a three-day trade mission to Yekaterinburg for British businesses and investors, headed up by Prince Michael of Kent.
