

Russia's Advanced Su-35S Fighter Flight Shown on Video

January 29, 2020

The Zvezda news channel said it was the western military district's first batch of Su-35S jets. Vitaly V. Kuzmin (CC BY-SA 4.0)

The Russian Defense Ministry's news channel has shown video of its Sukhoi Su-35S fighter jet in flight Wednesday.

The Zvezda news channel said it was the western military district's first batch of Su-35S jets, which it received in the fall of 2019. Russia's Aerospace Forces field more than 60 Su-35S multipurpose fighters.

Embed:

The letter "S" traditionally signifies a version of the Su-35 jet designated for the Russian Defense Ministry.
The minute-long video showed three takeoffs from a landing strip in northwestern Russia's republic of Karelia, but no landings.
Zvezda previously reported that the western military district's first drills involving the newly received Su-35S were scheduled for Feb. 4-6.
Original url: https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2020/01/29/russias-advanced-su-35s-fighter-flight-shown-on-video- a69078