The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

Moscow Church Holds Anti-Coronavirus Procession Despite Stay-at-Home Order

April 03, 2020

Russian Orthodox priests in Moscow led a religious procession against the coronavirus, seemingly breaking the city's self-isolation rules aimed at curbing the spread of the pandemic.

Russia is currently under a nationwide paid holiday until April 30 as authorities urge citizens to stay at home as much as possible.

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2020/04/03/moscow-church-holds-anti-coronavirus-procession-despite-stay-at-home-order-a69860