Russia Marks Orthodox Easter Under Coronavirus Lockdown

April 20, 2020

Millions of Russians celebrated Orthodox Easter over the weekend amid the coronavirus pandemic. In and around Moscow, where most of Russia's cases are concentrated, churches held services behind closed doors, while they remained open in many other regions of Russia. Russian Patriarch Kirill held a service in Moscow's Christ the Savior Cathedral without worshippers. Take look at our gallery of the images of the day.

Dmitry Feoktistov / TASS

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2020/04/20/russia-marks-orthodox-easter-under-coronavirus-lockdown-a70041