Tonight Tchaikovsky Hall is presenting a symphonic evening. The Moscow Philharmonic performs Mozart's Symphony 34 and Shostakovich's Symphony 5. The guest conductor is Daniele Gatti, music director of the Teatro dell'Opera di Roma and artistic advisor of the Mahler Chamber Orchestra.

This performance was from Sept. 27, 2019, and is introduced by Yaroslav Timofeyev, one of Russia's award-winning young music critics.

The performance begins at 7 p.m. Moscow time (5 p.m. in London, noon in New York). Stop in early to see what else is on the playlist for the rest of the week.
