Muscovites Bid Farewell to Warm Fall Weather

October 21, 2020

Muscovites flocked to the parks over the weekend to enjoy the last moments of an unusually warm fall season. With rains and the first snows already arriving in the capital this week, here is a look back at Moscow's golden fall:

With a longer school break and warm weather, for schoolchildren this was a fall to remember. Maxim Shipenkov / EPA / TASS
