Stray Cat Joins Russian Fire Department

January 18, 2022

A stray Russian cat has found a new career: fighting fires. Or at least befriending the people who fight them.

A firefighter crew in the Tyumen region of Siberia took in the stray cat, named Semyon, last year.

In his new home, Semyon has to follow fire department rules, joining the crew for their morning review — all while wearing his hand-made uniforms, of course.
