

In Photos: St. Petersburg Grapples With Ice-Covered Streets

January 20, 2022

St. Petersburg residents have seen the most ice coverage on their streets and sidewalks in years this week. Hundreds of people have landed in the hospital after slipping and falling, while local authorities face criticism for failing to deal with the situation. Here's a look at Russia's ice-covered northern capital:

People walk on a snowdrift on Palace Square in the city center. Anatoly Maltsev / EPA / TASS

Original url:

<https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2022/01/20/in-photos-st-petersburg-grapples-with-ice-covered-streets-a76094>