

In Photos: Cleanup Efforts in Southern Ukraine Following Kakhovka Dam Breach

June 23, 2023

Catastrophic flooding covered swathes of southern Ukraine this month after the Kakhovka dam on the Dnipro River collapsed. Russia and Ukraine have blamed each other for the destruction of the Moscow-occupied dam. At least 58 people in the Ukrainian-held and Russian-occupied areas have been killed by the flooding, a toll expected to rise as more victims are found. Thousands more have been displaced. In the regional capital, Kherson, locals have started to clean up and repair the flood's damage as the waters have subsided. Here is a look:
