At least 10 people were killed and 61 injured in Tuesday night's Russian strike on a busy pizzeria in the eastern Ukrainian city of Kramatorsk, Ukrainian officials said Wednesday. Three children were among the dead at the Ria Pizza restaurant. The strike on Kramatorsk, one of the largest cities under Kyiv's control in the country's embattled east, is the latest apparent Russian attack on a civilian area in its 16-month invasion of Ukraine.
