The Moscow Times
30 YEARS
INDEPENDENT NEWS FROM RUSSIA

How the Kremlin Is Manipulating the 2024 Election

Russia on the Record

March 15, 2024

Russia's three-day presidential election is off to a start, with Vladimir Putin expected to secure an easy victory after sidelining the opposition, leaving only his hand-picked opponents on the ballot.

Since the last presidential election of 2018, there have been significant changes to electoral legislation, significantly reducing the opportunities for independent observers to ensure the fairness of the process.

Stanislav Andreychuk, co-chair of the independent election watchdog Golos, joins us this episode to discuss the nature of electoral fraud in Russia and whether anything can be done to combat it.

Russia on the Record is a podcast where Moscow Times journalists, independent experts and ordinary Russians reflect, analyze and explain what's going on in Russia right now.

You can listen to us on the following platforms:
Apple Podcasts
Spotify
Amazon Music
Google Podcasts
YouTube

Original url:
https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2024/03/15/how-the-kremlin-is-manipulating-the-2024-election-a84484