

Global Sanctions and Russia: Lessons for International Business

May 09, 2024

The  Moscow Times

Sanctions against Russia and their effectiveness have been a hot topic at policy forums since the full-scale invasion of Ukraine. But these discussions, which are mainly focused on geopolitics and macroeconomics, often overlook the impact sanctions are having on international business.

In a lecture at the University of Cambridge, Nabi Abdullaev, a partner for Russia & Former Soviet Union at Control Risks, examines the issue from multiple sides and asks what keeps CEOs awake at night.

Abdullaev served as editor-in-chief of The Moscow Times between 2014 and 2015.

This lecture at the University of Cambridge is part of a series of talks by media professionals and experts on Russia organized by The Moscow Times at leading universities and research centers around the world.
