In Photos: Russians Stage Muted Protests on War's Third Anniversary

February 25, 2025

Russians in cities across the country held small protests and laid flowers at memorials to mark the third anniversary of their country's invasion of Ukraine. Despite public anti-war statements being forbidden by Russian law, small expressions of dissent could be seen from cities in the Ural Mountains to Moscow and St. Petersburg. Here's a look at photos from the day's actions:
